The Mikado

• Thank you for The Mikado (Festival, October 2, CBC-TV) and many other marvellous radio and TV shows. It was "yummy."

—Mrs. E.T., Winnipeg.

• Norman Campbell's production of The Mikado was not only a delight but was also a rare achievement. It proved how successfully light opera can be adapted for television, and the high standard of its performance was another surprise which left me wondering why Canadian viewers should be deprived of the great cultural heritage at our disposal but so seldom offered.

—H.M., Melfort, Sask.

• Just a line to let you know how much I enjoyed The Mikado last week—a comedy that never grows old. It is these especially good programs that I wish to commend.

I have also enjoyed the Music of Handel series late at night (Wednesdays on CBC Radio). I did not know Handel wrote so many operas. I shall look forward to more programs of the same kind.

—G.L.S., Winnipeg.

Antigone

• I would like to tell you that in my opinion Antigone (Festival, October 9) was one of the best television shows that I have ever seen.

The acting was incomparable; a credit to both Sophocles and Jean Anouilh, and succeeded in portraying the timelessness of the plot and moral. I hope that the rest of the Festival series can measure up to the last two.

—R.T., Winnipeg.

Scarlett Hill

• The program Scarlett Hill (Monday-Friday on CBC-TV) has been enjoyable and particularly true to life in any small prairie town.

Personally I enjoy a serial which can happen and probably does all over the country, in preference to the criminal type of story, and the gun shooting of the Westerns. Men enjoy this type of story but women and children are the humans who watch most of the day.

—J.M.W., Winnipeg.

A Song For You

• To Jose Poneira, (A Song for You, Sunday on CBC-TV). I am taking the liberty of sending you a few words of congratulations and thanks for the beautiful Brazilian Carnival music you played on your program recently. I have always enjoyed your fine interpretation of South American music, but this time you really made me homesick for my native country, Brazil. Translated from Portuguese

—An Admirer.

• To Jose Poneira: Though not a constant listener to your program of piano music and song I want to tell you how much I enjoy your playing, I myself being a lover of piano.

I like your taste, style and interpretation of modern music and the facile way in which you handle any given pieces. There is a smoothness and mellowness in your music which makes the piano sing. You play not as a tinkler but as an artist combining wonderful techniques with a wonderful richness of sound. Everytime I get a chance to tune in on your program, I experience a thrill known only to any genuine lover of piano, indeed a wonderful thrill.

—L.N., Winnipeg.

Stop, Look and Listen

• While we were living in Grande Prairie, Alberta, we never missed seeing your very interesting series, Stop, Look and Listen (Tuesdays on CBXT, Thursdays on CBWT). They are a lucky combination of education and entertainment.

—B.J., Fort St. John, B.C.

C.F.L. Football

• I am writing to express my appreciation of the telecast on Sept. 28, 1963, of the Winnipeg-Edmonton game.

The visual portion, especially the end-zone camera, were very dramatic and added an excellent touch to the game. I would respectfully suggest that the same format be continued as I have heard many excellent comments.

—J.G.J., Winnipeg.

Shari Lewis Stars on PARADE

SHARI LEWIS of the flaming, orange-coloured hair, petite dimensions and immense versatility, who is described by New York columnist John Crosby as "all eyes and mouth and talent and charm," will be a guest on CBC-TV's Parade on Thursday night, November 14. Best known as a puppeteer and ventriloquist (performing all the voices for her characters without the slightest trace of lip movement), she is also a singer, actress, storyteller, mime, magician, dancer, musician, author and mother.

A New Yorker, the daughter of a music teacher and Peter Pan the Magic Man, she began to sing, dance and perform magic tricks publicly when she was only two, and by the time she was four was working with her father. At 17 she joined the straw-hat circuit as a dancer. That year, while recuperating from a broken leg, she learned the arts of puppetry and ventriloquism, and less than a year later, after being a winner on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts, she and her puppets were starring in New York TV shows. Since then she has won several television awards, has made numerous recordings, published several books for children, and has become one of the best-known TV personalities, along with her remarkably life-like puppets, Lamb Chop, Charlie Horse, Hush Puppy, Wing Ding, and others.

around CBC

TELEVISION may revive the serialized novel as popular entertainment, predicts Thomas B. Costain, the eminent Canadian-born novelist and historian.

Mr. Costain's Son of a Hundred Kings is the first novel to be serialized on the CBC-TV network's new program, The Serial. The 10 weekly episodes are being seen Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. The novel was adapted by Leslie McFarlane.

For decades after Charles Dickens' novels Pickwick Papers and Oliver Twist appeared as serials, magazines built huge circulations by running long stories and novels in episode form.

"Magazines, for some reason I can't understand, have dropped out of the serial field," said Mr. Costain, as he was interviewed by the CBC at his New York apartment. "Your program, The Serial, may start something important. It comes at exactly the right time. Television may take over the serial field that magazines have abandoned."

Ronald Weyman, executive producer of The Serial, hopes to present his Chord of Steel later in the series, Mr. Costain said. This is a biography of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, and, like Mr. Costain, a native of Brantford, Ontario.

Starting December 5, Thomas Raddall's The Wings of Night, set in Nova Scotia, will be serialized on the series.

NORTHERN MESSENGER, CBC Radio's unique message transmittal service for people in isolated regions of the far north, returned to the air November 1 and is heard each Friday night at 12:15 a.m. on CBW and CBK, 12:05 a.m. on CBX.

The three powerful CBC long wave transmitters on the Prairies reach much of the north country, supplemented by the shortwave transmitter of the Northern Service.

Announcers Gren Marsh and Norm Micklewright read the English messages on the program, and Georges Paquin reads the French. Messages in other languages, including Eskimo, are broadcast from time to time, using tape recordings.

Not only does Northern Messenger reach far into the North, it also is picked up by U.S. listeners as far south as Louisiana, who, needless to say, are fascinated with it.

Messages for transmittal should be sent to Northern Messenger, CBC, Box 160, Winnipeg. W. H. Randall is producer.

FESTIVAL'S SECOND Antigone production this season is the Christopher Logue version, now in rehearsal for future telecast. Jean Anouilh's Antigone—a very different treatment of the legend—was presented on the series earlier this season.

Joseph Wiseman heads the cast of the new production as Creon; and Roberta Maxwell, a young Toronto actress just back from two years of work in England, will play Antigone.

Wiseman, veteran of many films and Broadway productions, will be seen on Quest this season in the title role of Eli, the Fanatic, an adaptation of a story from Goodbye, Columbus, by Philip Roth.

THE FARM FORUM Radios for India Project has come to an end. Nearly two hundred forums contributed to a total of $10,000 to provide radios for Indian farm forums. The project began in 1960 when, at a Farm Forum Conference, it was decided to try to send funds to India to buy radios. India at that time, had 2,000 farm forums and plans to organize 25,000 by 1965. Today over 12,000 farm forums are operating in India, and it is hoped that 50,000 may be organized by 1965.

PRICE of A FUTURE

HORIZON, Sunday, November 10, examines the crisis in education

"THE 20TH CENTURY shall be the century of Canada and of Canadian development." That was the prophecy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1904. It seemed a safe enough forecast at the time. Canada's mineral and agricultural riches lay largely untouched, a vast wealth of natural resources, ripe for development. But how true is Laurier's prediction today?

The blossoming of greatness should still lie ahead, for huge areas of the country have as yet been largely unexploited. But the world has moved rapidly in directions that Laurier could not have foreseen, and today the resources that automatically spelt wealth in an earlier age no longer have the importance they once did; now, as never before, well-trained people are vital to a country's development. On that basis, in the view of some observers, Canada, far from teetering on the brink of greatness, is in danger of becoming a backward nation.

"The quickest way to become a backward country," says Dr. John J. Deutsch, chairman of the recently formed Economic Council of Canada, "is to neglect education." His view is shared by others, who point out that for tomorrow's world we must concentrate on the development of a new national resource: not minerals, but minds.

"We can no longer consider education to be a terminal experience," says Alan Thomas, executive director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education. "No nation can afford to direct its education to only one segment of the population. It's far more dangerous to have an ignorant adult around than an ignorant child." Education, once considered something to which only the young were exposed, has now become a matter of concern to people of all ages, and, in the opinion of some, improved standards of general education are essential to the maintenance of our present standards of living.

The importance of adult education and re-education is an outcome of the rapid changes taking place in today's world. In the past, innovations in most fields came about relatively slowly; it was

REMEMBRANCE DAY • 1963

Special programs on CBC Radio and Television mark the annual day of mourning

Remembrance Day Service

THE RADIO and television broadcasts of the annual Remembrance Day Service in Ottawa, to be presented the morning of November 11, will bring to listeners and viewers the scene at the National War Memorial, as His Excellency the Governor-General Georges P. Vanier, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and others lay wreaths in tribute to those who lost their lives in past wars. The Governor-General will lay his wreath on behalf of the Queen.

Others taking part in the service will be the Mother of the Year, the Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, the Chiefs of Staff and members of the diplomatic corps. Commentators will be John Rae (television) and Bill Kehoe (radio).

The Normandy Invasion

FROM THE terrible holocaust of the Second World War, many recall one date as the most unforgettable: June 6, 1944—the day on which the Allies launched their massive assault on Hitler's European fortress; when the greatest armada the world has ever known slashed through the German defences to land thousands of Allied troops on the beaches of Normandy; when hundreds of those troops gave their lives for the liberation of Nazi-oppressed Europe.

The story of the invasion, from the initial preparations to the end of the first day of the operation, will be told this week in a documentary film entitled D-Day. The program will be presented on CBC Television on Tuesday, November 12 at 10:00 p.m.

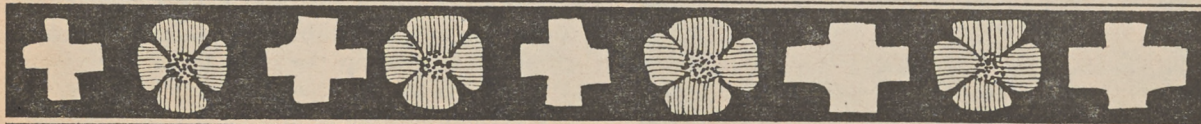

Remembrance of Two Wars

THE SECOND World War ended in May, 1945, and again in August, 1945, and is the more immediately remembered. But the First World War was so much the more disastrous and humbling that after half a century its horror hangs still over the 1918 Armistice Day: November 11.

CBC Sunday Night, on November 10 at 9:00 p.m., will present Remembrance of Two Wars—An Elegy. The program, cast in the formal structure of an elegy, is a blending of the songs, poetry and sounds of war with excerpts from conversations with veterans of both Wars from all parts of Canada. It recalls events that were, at once, the most magnificent and the most appalling of Canada's past.

REAL & BERNARD

Babies that are Different

The tragic story of a thalidomide baby is told by her mother Sunday on CBC Radio's PROJECT '64

IN 1957, WHEN a drug called Contergan appeared on the West German market, it was hailed as the first absolutely safe, non-habit-forming medication for the treatment of insomnia. The following year the drug was sold in Britain, and on October 5, 1960, an application by the U.S. firm of Wm. S. Merrell was made to the food and drug directorate in Ottawa to distribute the sedative in Canada, where it went on prescription sale on April 1, 1961.

A few days earlier, an edition of the British Medical Journal had published several letters to the editor, suggesting a possible connection between the administration of the drug to expectant mothers and a malformation of the babies' limbs, called phocomelia. On December 1 representatives of the U.S. drug company producing thalidomide and related drugs had a meeting with directorate officials to discuss its side effects — peripheral neuritis and malformations. By that time, the drug had been withdrawn in Germany.

The rest of the story is well-known. There was a thalidomide baby crop born in West Germany, England, Scotland, Brazil, Japan. In the U.S. only the stubborn insistence of Dr. Frances Kelsey prevented widespread use of the sedative. In Canada today there are some 100 babies afflicted with malformations caused by the drug. Because of this tragedy, special committees have been formed on federal and provincial levels, to see what can be done for the children, and many magazine and newspaper articles have offered opinions of scientists, doctors, clergymen, lawyers and politicians.

This Sunday afternoon, November 10, at 5:00 p.m., CBC Radio's Project '64 presents a program about thalidomide babies from the point of view of the person most concerned with the problem, the mother of the malformed child.

Production is by Dita Scholz, who says: "On January 20, 1962, Mrs. Karl Beeston, now 23 years old, pretty, petite, and feminine, gave birth to a daughter, Kimberley Anne. The baby has badly deformed arms, and no legs. Shortly after the baby's birth, and at intervals of about six months, freelance broadcaster Marjorie McEnaney talked to Mrs. Beeston, a young woman with an extraordinary amount of common sense, about her feelings about the child's severe handicap, governmental aid, her opinions on abortion and the Belgian euthanasia trial, and about the treatment her child receives, from doctors, the family, and from strangers — people she might meet at a supermarket.

"Mrs. Beeston is trying her best to have the child grow up as normally as possible under the circumstances. She is dead set against putting her in an institution, because she feels Kim needs parental attention and love even more than a normal child. Kim has inherited her mother's big blue eyes and, like any other baby, she gets into everything — closets, kitchen cupboards, and even manages to climb into the bathtub. She has learned quite a few words, she can handle a fork and spoon, and she glides across the room on her tummy at a good rate of speed.

"Every time we talked to Mrs. Beeston she stressed the fact that she would have agreed to an abortion, had she known beforehand, with no consideration for the legal or religious consequences. When she was told in the delivery room about the malformation of her newborn, she kept hoping it would die. Today she and her husband, a lithographer, would not want to give up the child under any circumstances. It is their first, and they are planning on a larger family later on."

The Queen of Spades

Alexander Pushkin's exciting tale comes to CBC Television Monday, November 11 on PLAYDATE.

"THE BRAIN IS made to be used, gentlemen. It has power, and weaklings never realize that power. We give in too easily to Fate and Chance. It's possible for man to take uncertainty out of luck, and suspense out of gambling. But then, you ask, where's the fun?"

Where Ernst Herman was concerned, the excitement wasn't in losing, but in winning. He had no patience with those who win or lose only a little. He wanted all or nothing, to compete with Fate herself, and to be the master.

Herman was one of those mysterious men who just pop up and then, one day, pop out. He was handsome and charming, and he used to hang about the gaming tables at the casino, not betting or flinging money around or making a nuisance of himself, but quietly observing, calculating, studying. He was looking for a sure way of breaking the bank at Monte Carlo. He was obsessed with the idea, and when his friends smiled and pointed out that there was no element of suspense in a sure thing, he would look at them pityingly and remind them that there would be extreme satisfaction in flinging a glove in Fate's face and walking off with his pockets heavy with the means for a life of ease. He was vehemently sure that he would break the bank. The bank wouldn't break him.

Then he heard a bit of news that made it look as if he would be able to accomplish it the easy way. A young friend told him that his grandmother, the Countess Anna, an old harridan nicknamed The Queen of Spades, had learned a sure-fire secret of winning at Faro from a gypsy with whom she had once been in love. She had divulged it only once, to her late husband, and it had made them rich, but she refused to tell it to anyone else. Herman decided to get it from her somehow. When he learned that she had a pretty young paid companion, (Please turn to page 27)

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 9

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

CFL Football

An Eastern Conference semi-final game between Ottawa and Montreal, at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park.

Countrytime

1. Saturna Lamb Barbecue — A Vancouver feature.
2. Stan Westaway discusses rose protection in the winter.

Beverly Hillbillies

The Clampetts Are Overdrawn. Granny accuses Jed of living too high when a bookkeeping error at Drysdale's bank results in bankruptcy for Jed.

NHL Hockey

Danny Gallivan does the play-by-play from the Montreal Forum, as the New York Rangers play the Montreal Canadiens.

Juliette

Remembrance Day theme with special guest George Murray. Regulars are the Romeos, the Bill Isbister orchestra, and the four girl vocalists.

Experiences On a Retreat

AN EXAMINATION of the retreat movement in the Roman Catholic Church will be presented on CBC-TV's Heritage, Sunday afternoon, November 10, in a program entitled The Weekenders. Filmed at the retreat house of the Augustinian Fathers at Marylake, near Toronto, the program will give expression to the thoughts of a young man who is making his first retreat.

Appearing in the program will be Father Gregory Baum, retreat master at Marylake, and Father Arnulf Hartmann, prior of the monastery.

A retreat, in religious usage, is a period of time, varying from a few days to a month, spent in worship, meditation, prayer and instruction, under the guidance of a priest or leader in a retreat house or convent, alone or with others. The retreat is not intended to be merely a period of withdrawal from the everyday world, but also a time for constructive, guided thought and education toward the enrichment of one's spiritual life, to learn more of God's nature, and to dedicate oneself more perfectly to His will.

Christ and the disciples went into retreat, and the fathers of the early Church encouraged all Christians to do likewise. The orderly systemizing of retreats came about in the 16th century, through the Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius Loyola. Others contributed to the movement and by the end of the 19th century the retreat had been firmly established as a part of Catholic life.

The Oxford Movement re-established the retreat as a custom of the Anglican Church, and today some Protestant denominations have begun to encourage the practice. One world-wide interdenominational movement is called Ashram, a Sanskrit word used by those of the Hindu faith, who also practice retreats.

enough that fresh ideas be introduced to each successive generation of students. Today, however, such changes occur much more rapidly. In the field of science, for example, concepts and many practical applications change with dizzying speed.

In the view of some authorities on economics and education, Canada today faces a crisis in education; present facilities are inadequate to meet the demands of the future; we are inadvertently creating problems that will cause grave concern in our society a decade hence.

An examination of the situation will be presented this week on CBC-TV's Horizon (Sunday, November 10) in a documentary film directed by Jim Carney, entitled Price of a Future.

It's no Cadillac — but Jed Clampett is no ordinary multi-millionaire, although he lives in the heart of Beverly Hills. Let Jed and family chug into your home each Saturday for a half-hour or laughs on The Beverly Hillbillies.

Lake, Ontario, with the Rev. Gregory Baum.

Country Calendar

South Saskatchewan Dam. Developments so far with farmers' reaction to the project. A repeat of an earlier Countrytime feature.

The Sixties

First of two programs which explore the pressures behind what we read in the newspapers and hear on the air. Is there a deliberate attempt to "manage" public opinion? Do governments try to control the news media? Are the "free presses" too free? Examples are drawn from the "Der Spiegel" case in Germany, the Vassal and Profumo cases in England, President Kennedy's relationship with the Press, and the coverage of the Saskatchewan medicare plan.

Some of Those Days

Covers the years of the Second World War, with musical reminiscences by Thora Anders, Roma Hearn, Lorraine McAllister, Pat Morgan, Barney Potts, Lance Harrison and his Orchestra, and host Bill Bellman. Film clips show Normandy landings on D-Day, the liberation of Paris, and the fighting at Monte Casino in Italy.

My Three Sons

The Toupee. Chip comes up with an idea to make grandfather Bub look younger with a toupee.

Hazel

The Baby Came C.O.D. Hazel helps a young couple finance their baby's birth. Hazel's ingenuity not only solves the young couple's problems, but gives her employer a chance to deliver a series of lectures at a law school.

Flashback

Guest panelist on this occasion will be Anna Cameron, actress and TV personality.

Ed Sullivan

Guests are Ed Wynn, Shelly Ber- man, and the singing trio of Jane Russell, Connie Hames and Beryl Davis.

Horizon

Price of a Future. Examining the latest survey which reveals that only six per cent of the children entering grade school get to college. Once there one out of three fail to graduate. Another issue examined will be the export of brains to the United States and other countries, and the fact that we are not training enough scientists and technologists to keep abreast of the technological age.

CBWT-Desilu Playhouse

Walter Winchell is the guest and Lloyd Bridges stars as an ex-fighter who becomes personally involved with the chief of the notorious Murder, Inc., in the semi-documentary Lepke.

Heritage

The Weekenders. A visit to the Roman Catholic retreat house at Mary

Freedom of the Press?

Just how free are our newspapers to publish the news? THE SIXTIES studies the question in two programs Sundays on CBC-TV PRESSURES BEHIND what we read in the newspapers and hear on the air will be explored in the next two editions of CBC-TV's The Sixties, Sunday afternoons. Is there a deliberate attempt to manage public opinion? Do governments try to control the news media, and is the "free press" too free?

Managing the News on November 10 will consider attempts by governments to apply pressure to newspapers. Moulders of Opinion on November 17 will consider how the newspapers see their role as a go-between for the government and the people, how the papers decide what they will tell the people, how they go about telling it, and how free the press should be or can afford not to be.

Speakers will include Konrad Ahlers, editor of Der Spiegel, a West German newspaper which was much in the news some time ago when it revealed to the German public details about the NATO defence forces and Germany, which were supposed to be classified information. Minister of Defense Strauss ordered the newspaper offices raided and some of its members were arrested. Later Strauss had to resign. The Sixties asks: How far can a newspaper go in revealing news it feels the public should know about, and how far can a government go in controlling the paper?

Another speaker is British tycoon Cecil Harmsworth King, the biggest newspaper publisher in the world, whose empire includes the Daily Mirror, Sunday Pictorial, The People, and Debrett's Peerage. The Dairy Mirror published letters from John Profumo to Christine Keeler in the recent British scandal, and titillated public interest so greatly that

NOVEMBER 11

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

Remembrance Day Service

Live coverage of the National Remembrance Day service from the Cenotaph in Ottawa.

Nursery School Time

Hoppy pretends to be a woodpecker and waits to surprise Mr. Hooper, the owl. Mr. Hooper is annoyed because he does not want a woodpecker to ruin his tree.

Girl Talk

Hostess and moderator Virginia Graham's guests include Suzy Parker, actress and model; Marion Javits, wife of New York Senator Jacob Javits; and Sheila Graham, Hollywood columnist. The girls discuss divorce, the effect it has on children, and responsibilities of women in public life.

CBXT-Gale Storm

Gypping the Gypsies. Susanna tries to pass herself off as a millionaire in Tangier.

Ladies First

1. Gerdine Crawford demonstrates knitting, blocking, and brushing.
2. Ruth Dyker discusses new models in kitchen ranges.

Producer, Don Robertson.

Take Thirty

Paul Soles talks to Anna Russell, a Canadian-born comedienne, about her life and times.

This Living World

Steve Bloomer talks about the many different ways in which Nature has provided all livings things with food.

CBXT-The Kerry Wood Storybook

The Greatest Land Geographer. Kerry tells the story of David Thompson, one of the greatest Canadian explorers, who mapped most of Canada's rivers and mountains.

Puppet Playhouse

This week, Charlemagne decides to try out as a television announcer. Although he sets the broadcasting industry back ten years, everyone has a lot of fun at his expense. Florence Faiers is hostess. Puppeteers are Ken Babb and Jane Heffelfinger. Script by Norman Bortnick. Don Browne-Wilkinson is producer.

CBXT-Gateway

Co-hosts Colin MacLean and Jim Mitchell introduce special guest, Dr. Brand, a medical researcher from Velour, India, who has done world renowned studies in leprosy. A film shows the work he has conducted and what is involved in such a study.

The first episode in this week's exciting Tom Terrific cartoon serial is an added feature. Producer, Dave Smiley.

CBWT-Reach for the Top

The teams competing this week are Elmwood High School and Vincent Massey Collegiate.

CBXT-Sports Page

A weekly half-hour devoted to all types of sports activities of significant interest to the Edmonton community, with CBC sportscaster Glenn Bjarnason. In addition to this week's special feature, Sports Page continues its regular football segment featuring personal interviews with professional football players and coaches; and Gino Fracas, University of Alberta football coach, uses slow motion film and the chalk board to describe defensive plays and blocking techniques. Producer, Dave Smiley.

Calamity Jane

A 90-minute musical-comedy special starring Carol Burnett as Calamity Jane. Featured in the cast are Art Lund, who co-stars as Wild Bill Hickock, Bernie West as Henry Miller, Beryl Tobin as Katie Brown, and Don Chastain as Lt. Danny Gilmartin. Based on the original motion picture, it includes the Academy Award-Winning ballad, Secret Love.

Playdate

The Queen of Spades, by Alexander Pushkin, adapted for TV by Leo Orenstein. Produced by Donald Weyman. Starring John Colicos and Hilary Vernon, and introducing Patricia Collins.

A young man becomes obsessed with a desire to know the secret of the cards, a secret that only the aged Countess Anna possesses. His quest leads him to terror and tragedy.

Cast: John Colicos as Herman; Hilary Vernon as Countess Anna; Patricia Collins as Lisa; Dermot Grice as Paul; Charles Palmer as Narumov; Ivan Thorne as dealer.

Inquiry

Host Laurier La Pierre, assistant professor of history at McGill University, reports on topics and subjects of national interest and concern, and also international topics relevant to Canada.

Explorations

Pets and People. Part 1. More details to be announced.

CBXT-Thriller

The Last of the Somervilles. The only surviving heir to an immense fortune arrives at his aunt's old manor home to ask for money and becomes involved in a complicated murder plot devised by the old lady's niece. Starring Boris Karloff and Phyllis Thaxter.

CBWT-An Age of Kings

Excerpts from Shakespeare's plays, featuring a cast of distinguished British actors. This week:

Deposing of a King. (Richard II, Acts 3, 4 and 5.) Richard II surrenders to Bolingbroke and Northumberland. He yields the Crown to Bolingbroke who becomes Henry IV, and the Queen is sent back to her native France. When Richard is imprisoned at Pomfret he is murdered by Sir Pierce Exton who wishes to gain Henry's favour.

(Repeat of last Wednesday's program.)

CBWT—Gale Storm

Susanna turns detective to solve the mysterious appearance of a valise full of money.

CBXT—Love That Bob

Bob is madly in love with Kay but he still has a tendency to notice the charms of other girls. This could and does lead to trouble.

Ladies First

The show with the feminine point of view with co-hosts Jo Everett and Ernie Poscente introducing Elsie Kostash, who continues her current basketry project, the making of a magazine rack.

Special guest is Mrs. Joan Jakes who will discuss a different aspect of the work of the Canadian Mental Health Association, and in the music room are Rosalind Harper and Tommy Banks. Producer, Gloria Germain.

Take Thirty

Anna Cameron talks to Donald David, an Irish fashion designer, who was recently in Toronto to introduce some of his fashions. On film we meet a fashion photographer and investigate the influence he has through the use of film. Also Henry Bull, Crown Attorney for Metropolitan Toronto and the County of York, discusses with Anna Cameron his views about lawyers as TV entertainment.

Friendly Giant

Friendly discovers a donkey on the farm and tells Rusty about it. He thinks that Jerome and the donkey have similar ears.

Misterogers

Tom Kneebone and Dan, the tiger, are trying to cheer up Corney whose factory was burned down. When they start to work on the new factory, Corney immediately feels better.

Fireball XL-5

Invasion Earth. Space City is taken over by a formation of black alien spaceships. The aliens have come to take over the earth. They are conquered by the space disease — Rystamesia.

Come Listen Awhile

Regulars are Bud Spencer, Pat Trudell, and the George Calangis Orchestra. Special guest is folksinger Claire Klein.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

Uneasy Lies the Head. Henry IV, Part II, Acts 3, 4 and 5. The burdens of kingship oppress Henry IV. Despite failing health, he organizes a campaign against the rebels.

Ben Casey

Six Impossible Things Before Breakfast. Dr. Maggie Graham is forced to go against her Hippocratic Oath when she reveals a patient's frightening secret. Featuring Ricardo Montalban.

D-Day

The second in a series of six hour-long specials dealing with the major events of this century. This is the story of the Allied invasion of Normandy on June 6, 1944. Captured German film, some of it never before shown publicly, shows Nazi anti-invasion preparations.

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 13

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

Western School Telecasts

Explore and Map. Introduces basic map skills to students in grades 3 and 4.

Today: My Classroom. Introducing scale, through having students make maps of objects in their classroom, such as books and desks. Culminating point is the mapping of the classroom itself.

Nursery School Time

Hoppy has a homemade plane of cardboard and Miss Toby helps him to give the flight instructions and weather reports.

Girl Talk

Hostess Virginia Graham's guests include Monique Van Voren, actress; Anita Golby, model and beauty consultant; and Eugenia Shepard, women's feature editor. The girls discuss individuality of appearance in dress, the ten best-dressed women, and fashion-minded women.

CBWT—Cuisine 30

Hints on cooking, particularly outdoor charcoal barbecuing.

CBXT—Gale Storm

Susanna cures a beauty contestant of her flashbulb shyness caused by bombing experiences in her war-torn native land.

CBWT—Gale Storm

A baby smuggled aboard the S.S. Ocean Queen complicates a honeymoon cruise.

CBXT—Love That Bob

Hawaii Stays. Bob's life becomes so involved romantically that it begins to look as though something permanent, like suicide, can be the only solution to all his problems.

Ladies First

1. Mat Gauer returns with more of her delicious recipes.

2. Mary Liz Bayer talks with Chuck Skelding about her visit to Egypt. Producer, Don Robertson.

Take Thirty

1. Agota Gabor gives Paul Soles another American dance lesson.

2. Barbara Kirshenblatt demonstrates print making.

3. Paul Soles talks to Vincent Price about his art collection and the plan to make original works of art by famous artists included in department stores.

Friendly Giant

Rusty has a surprise for Friendly. A concert takes place in the music room where Angie plays the piano.

Misterogers

King Friday rejects all the plans for Corney's new factory. Donna Miller feels that he might be jealous because of the huge order Henrietta put in for Feline Fashions.

CBXT—Calling All Children

Host Jim Mitchell introduces young performers from Edmonton and Northern Alberta. This week: Lorraine Beldand delivers a recitation; The Judy Jugler Dancers (Pamela Lansley, Max Lansley, Judy Hales and Judy McNab), acrobats; Silvia Horvat, accordionist; Joanne Stevenson, baton twirling; and Anine Christenson, vocalist. Producer, Gloria Germain.

CBWT—An Age of Kings

Rebellion from the North. (Henry IV, Part 1, Acts 1 and 2). The new King is faced with seemingly insuperable problems. Reckless "Hotspur" and his family revolt in the North, while his son, Prince Hal, prefers the environment of London's disreputable Eastcheap Tavern.

Mr. Fix-It

Peter Whittall and Rex Loring build a "magic box."

CBXT—Reach for the Top

Quizmaster Colin MacLean moderates as eight youngsters representing Edmonton and district high schools form two panel teams in a quest for prizes and awards. This week, Eastglen Composite High School takes on Salisbury High School.

Red River Jamboree

Songs, stories, and dances which create an authentic picture of the Canadian West. Host Stu Phillips, Peggy Neville, The Altones, The Valley Beaux and Belles, and Ted Komar and the Selkirk Settlers are featured.

Tonight some of the mountain songs and tall tales of mountain feuds.

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 14

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

National School Telecasts

Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. Today, Act 5: Catastrophe. A BBC production, with brief introductions.

Girl Talk

Guests: Ilka Chase, author; Aileen Mehle who is "Suzy," New York Daily Mirror columnist; and Barbara Feldon, model. The girls discuss society, fashion, travel, and friendships.

Ladies First

1. Co-hosts Jo Everett and Ernie Poscente welcome Madelaine Dunkley who continues instruction on how to make a fur hat out of lynx.

2. June Sheppard reviews another best seller.

3. Special guest is Mrs. Walker Brash, wife of the British Information Officer who will discuss the services offered by this organization.

Producer, Gloria Germain.

Take Thirty

Lotta Dempsey interviews Mrs. John Diefenbaker; and we have an official look at the residence of the Leader of the Opposition.

CBXT—St. Lawrence North

Three Seasons. On the shores of the St. Lawrence River, between the Saguenay and Seven Islands, lies the Cote du Bois, the coast of wood, where the men cut pulpwood, working and resting in a rhythm dictated by the seasons.

CBWT—Stop, Look and Listen

Bill Guest, Gerri Styne, and Jeff Maneshin present features for young people. Producer, Dave Ruskin.

1. Newsmakers of the Week. News item of interest to youngsters.

2. Cooking. Very basic cooking techniques for youngsters.

3. Pedestal. How to pamper a pony.

4. In the Looking Glass. A peek inside girls' handbags.

5. Quick-Quiz. Performers test each other's mental abilities.

6. What Else Is New? New products of interest to youngsters.

CBWT—Biography

Princess Margaret. The life-story of the darling of the Commonwealth, Princess Margaret, younger sister of Queen Elizabeth the Second.

The Serial

Song of a Hundred Kings. Episode 8. Catherine's life hangs in the balance. Lockie MacGregor decides that he is not a remarkable man after all. The mysterious Mr. Morton arrives in Balfour and visits Matilda. The townspeople await the launching of Billy Christian's great invention.

Parade

Special guest is puppeteer Shari Lewis, who displays some of her other talents, including singing and dancing.

CBWT—Thriller

Charlie and Roz Denham debate whether they should seek shelter in a huge crumbling house. Roz insists that they enter. Their terrifying adventures are seen in the teleplay Masquerade, written by Henry Kuttner, and directed by Herschel Daugherty.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

Uneasy Lies the Head. (Henry IV, Part II, Acts 3, 4 and 5.) The burdens of Kingship oppress Henry IV. Despite failing health he organizes a campaign against the rebels. (A repeat of Tuesday's 6:45 p.m. episode).

Biography of a Disaster. A reminiscence of the fire disaster which destroyed the luxury ship Noronic in Toronto harbour on September 17, 1949, with a loss of many lives. Script writer is Harry Hasky, who covered the story as a cub reporter.

Biography Of a Disaster

SHORTLY AFTER midnight on September 17, 1949, fire broke out on the luxury liner S.S. Noronic, docked at Pier Nine in Toronto Harbour. The holiday ship carried 524 passengers, most of them from Detroit and Cleveland, bound for a five-day pleasure cruise to the Thousand Islands. Flames swept through the ship with whirlwind speed, and by 3 a.m., when the last survivor was taken off the blazing hulk, 119 passengers were dead, dozens more injured.

On this week's edition of CBC-TV's Telescope (Friday, November 15), the tragic events of that night will be recalled, in a program titled Biography of a Disaster. Script writer and director of the film is Harry Rasky, who covered the terrible event as a young reporter. He recalls it in these words:

"The Noronic was for me a time of growing up. I had been working as a cub reporter, fresh from the know-it-all class of '49 at the University of Toronto. When the Canadian Press bulletin bells sounded the alarm on our teletype, I headed for the scene of the disaster. I went against the wishes of my city editor, but I wanted to be where the big news was.

"I had no knowledge of death. It was part of faraway wars and adventure stories. Now it was time to find out myself, firsthand.

"When Ross McLean, producer of Telescope, suggested the Noronic as a topic for a film, suddenly the vivid images and odors came back to me almost like last night's nightmare. As I combed through Toronto newspaper "morgues," I began to wonder about the survivors: How had that moment in time affected their lives?

"It was like a detective's job, finding them and asking them to remember. One person led to another. Every person and place told a story. The results of what I found make up this Biography of a Disaster."

Sheila Henig is Piano Soloist Sunday

SHEILA HENIG, young Canadian pianist, has been winning plaudits in such distant places as Houston, Amsterdam and Geneva, as well as in concerts coast to coast in Canada and in CBC and BBC radio broadcasts. She is soloist with the CBC Symphony Orchestra conducted by Alexander Brott, in the Sunday Concert on CBC Radio this week, November 10, at 2:30 p.m. local time. She will play Rhapsody for Piano and Orchestra by one of the great musical spirits of our time, Béla Bartok and the orchestra will play Symphony No. 5 by Hans Werner Henze, young German composer noted for his unorthodox, imaginative handling of the 12-tone idiom.

11:05 p.m.—Pro Musica Antiqua

Miserere mei Deus Leonardo Leo

Miss Henig was a child prodigy in her native Winnipeg, first as a three-year-old contralto and dancer in vaudeville. A year later her mother took her to Hollywood, where Eddie Cantor wisely advised the tiny performer to "go home and be a serious artist." She did. At 18 she had become such a proficient pianist that, although she had acquired a degree in singing, she decided to concentrate on the piano rather than her voice, which by then had become soprano.

She was named the most outstanding student in her graduating class in the Faculty of Music, University of Toronto, and won the T. Eaton Company's $1,000 scholarship. Two years ago she was a finalist in the famed Geneva International Competition, and shortly afterwards the Dutch music critics, considered the most difficult to impress in Europe, described her performance with the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra as "faultless virtuosity . . . real romanticism in the most sensitive and impassioned way . . . ardent, tender and deeply serious."

Miss Henig is married to a Toronto pharmacist, is a diehard Argo fan, and a frequent theatre and concert-goer. One of her unrealized ambitions is to be invited back to Winnipeg for a concert or recital. She has never had the opportunity of playing the piano professionally in her birthplace.

Lisa, with whom she was on terms of confidence, Herman made a point of meeting and attracting Lisa, and then gambled not only with Fate, but on Lisa's love for him, a situation complicated by the fact that the old Countess believed he was a sorcerer who had put a curse on her house, and warned Lisa against him.

As the plot moves along with murder and suspense Lisa shows that there is something of the gambler in all of us. The great 19th-century Russian poet and short story writer, Alexander Pushkin, described the situation in The Queen of Spades, one of the exciting tales in a small volume which he published under the nom de plume of Ivan Byelkin, and which included The Captain's Daughter, set in the time of Catherine II, The Undertaker (a ghost story in the manner of Edgar Allan Poe) and The Pistol Shot. Tchaikovsky was so intrigued by The Queen of Spades that he wrote an opera based on it. And it becomes a passionate, intense and intriguing drama in the television adaptation which CBC drama producer Leo Orenstein has prepared for presentation on Playdate this Monday night, November 11. Production is by Ronald Weyman, with John Colicos and Hilary Vernon starred as Herman and the Countess.

An untrained young actress who says "my theatrical career sort of crept up on me," will be making her CBC-TV debut in a major role in The Queen of Spades. Patricia Collins of Toronto will play Lisa, the young and innocent companion to the old Countess. She also appears on CBC-TV's Festival this week, Wednesday, November 13, in A Resounding Tinkle, half of a double-bill of unusual contemporary plays. On December 23 she appears again on Playdate in Sheridan's The Critic, and in several other major TV dramas later in the season.

Miss Collins is ecstatic about the "lucky break" that has landed her in the top drawer of television performers in just a fraction of the time it usually takes a young actress to make the grade, and says that credit must go to her family and friends, who urged her to give up her job as a copywriter to try her wings in professional theatre.

"I'm terrified of being typecast as a sweet, spineless ingenue," she says, but her CBC-TV roles this season suggest there is no danger of that.

Others in the cast are Dermot Grice, Charles Palmer, Ian Thorne, Fred Euringer, Gerard Parkes, and Cosette Lee.

Alexander Pushkin lived a life no less exciting than one of his own tales. He was born in Moscow in 1799 to an ancient family of Russian aristocrats. From his great grandfather, Hannibal, a favourite Negro general ennobled by Peter the Great, he inherited curly hair and a darker complexion than most Russians. When he was 18 he was given a ministry post, began his brilliant writing career, and became a gay society man of fashion whose outspokenness on the subject of liberty in one of his poems reached the ears of authority and Pushkin narrowly missed being shipped off to Siberia.

He next accepted a post in the Crimea, where, becoming enmeshed in secret societies with fanatics, once more had to leave. Back at his father's place he was embroiled in further trouble, but managed to burn any incriminating papers in the nick of time, when tipped off about an impending search by government authorities.

Influential friends made his peace with the Emperor, who later described the author as the wittiest man in Russia. Pushkin died at 38 from wounds acquired in a duel fought with his brother-in-law who, Pushkin insisted, had been making eyes at his wife. He left four children and a rich legacy of literary works, including his masterpiece, Eugene Onegin, a novel of manners in verse; the drama Boris Godunov; the fairy romance Ruslan and Ludmilla; and many historical poems and others written under the influence of Byron.

No Escape From Our Personalities

AN ORIGINAL radio play by the distinguished Swiss dramatist Max Frisch, titled Rip Van Winkle, will be presented on CBC Stage on Friday night, November 15, at 10:30 local time, in a translation by Michael Bullock.

The play is an earlier version of the theme which Frisch later developed into his great novel, I'm Not Stiller—that man can't escape from the idea of himself which he has built up over the years, or which others have constructed around him; that there is absolutely nothing he can do or say to get out of the clutches of this personality, no matter how desperately he wants to.

In vivid and extremely witty style, Frisch draws a portrait of a man who tries to run away from his own identity, only to be caught and forced back by society into the role it had allotted him, because it wouldn't tolerate his transformation.

Frisch's play The Firebugs, starring Lou Jacobi, Toronto actor currently appearing as the bartender in the film version of Irma La Douce, will be seen on CBC-TV's Festival later this season.

The feasibility of such a waterway will be discussed.

Producer, Larry Glover.

FESTIVAL'S Double Bill

Two plays are seen Wednesday,
November 13 on FESTIVAL

A Resounding Tinkle

N. F. SIMPSON is an eminently sane man of 44 with a delicious sense of humour, who teaches in London, reads philosophy for relaxation and looks like a mischievous monk. He says there's a devil inside him trying desperately to get out. His conscious won't allow it in reality, but he's found that giving the imp its freedom is just the ticket for plays.

Six years ago he won a prize in the Observer's playwrighting contest for his A Resounding Tinkle, and critics hailed him as another Ionesco.

His dramatic world is lower English suburban middle class, but his is highly intellectual entertainment, relying on free association and purely verbal logic wrapped up in punchy humour. A Resounding Tinkle is a fantasy based on reality—the senselessness of half-unconscious life in suburbia today. Eric House stars in the Festival production by David Gardner, with Patricia Collins, Ian Thorne and Michael Rawtree.

I Spy

JOHN MORTIMER is a 40-year-old Londoner, a lawyer by profession, specializing in divorce, and a playwright by the way, but a success in both fields, which comes into focus in the Festival production of his I Spy.

It tells of a rather comical but sensitive private detective, hired by a lawyer for his client, who makes the mistake of falling in love with his suspect and becoming the co-respondent he is supposed to be tailing. Mortimer imbues what might have been routine squalors of a divorce investigation with a moving innocence and humour and a sympathy for those who let their loving natures lead them into topsy-turvy situations. Eric House stars as the investigator in the Festival production by David Gardner, with Hilary Vernon as the "suspect," Ivor Barry as her husband who won't believe she doesn't love him any more, Henry Comor as a lawyer, and Barbara Byrne as a tongue-tied kitchenmaid.

the government had to embark on a large investigation of morality in high circles. The Daily Mirror insisted that it was protecting public interest and morality by publishing every available detail about the Profumo case, but, asks The Sixties, how far can a newspaper afford to go in such a direction? Can delving into scummy backwaters of some private lives be classed as satisfying public appetite or is it really just pornography? Another British scandal discussed in the program as it was reflected by newspapers is the Vassall spy case.

In the United States many are saying that the Kennedy administration tries to manipulate the press sometimes directly, or by persuading the press to print certain stories. In the Cuban affair, some Americans insist, the information given by the press was not accurate. Robert J. Manning, assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs in the Kennedy administration, will be interviewed on The Sixties. Donald Gordon, former CBC correspondent now lecturing in political economy at the University of Alberta, Calgary, who has been preparing a Ph.D. thesis on the relationship between the press and government in Britain, France and Ghana, will be interviewed about his findings.

Another speaker will be Robert Dapalme, a cartoonist formerly with La Presse, Montreal, and now a freelance editor-cartoonist. He will discuss how the press sees its job of influencing and informing the public, how politically committed he sees himself as a moulder of opinion, and how he feels other newspapermen are carrying out their role in Canada.

Among other speakers to be heard from will be several from the Ottawa Press Gallery, including Dick Jackson of the Ottawa Journal and Peter Newman of Maclean's magazine.

Scripts for the two programs are by Chris Young, editor of the Ottawa Citizen. The host for The Sixties is Frank McGee, appointed minister without portfolio just before the last federal election, and now political reporter for the Toronto Star. The program organizer is Christina McDougall. Production is by Cameron Graham.

this season. For each program, three CBC-affiliated radio stations solicit opinions from their listeners on a particular topic. These opinions, recorded and forwarded to a central point, are then broadcast on the Tuesday night programs.

It is hoped that the technique will enable listeners to hear candid expressions of feeling, not from experts or authorities, but from fellow citizens. Two of the stations involved in gathering opinions on this week's topic are CKOV, Kelowna, B.C., and CJQC, Quebec City.

Inter-faith or "mixed" marriages have increased in number in the last few decades. Studies of the subject show that, in the United States and Canada, more than half of all marriages are between people of differing religious beliefs. Masses of statistics tend to become confusing, but, generally speaking, members of Protestant denominations have been marrying outside their own churches to an increasing degree, while Roman Catholics, Jews, and Mennonites have shown the highest proportion of "in-group" marriages. While the percentage of inter-faith unions among other faiths hover around the 50 per cent mark, these three groups maintain a figure of about 90 per cent, with a consistently steady increase being noted.

Some studies have also shown that there are about three times as many divorces or separations in Catholic-Protestant unions as there are when the partners share the same faith or denomination.

The rich voices of the Metro Male Chorus are heard Thursday at 10:05 p.m. on Parade of Choirs.

COOK'S TOUR

with Mat Gauer

RECIPES FEATURED ON
"LADIES FIRST" EACH THURSDAY

CIRCASSIAN CHICKEN

Boil chicken until tender. Cool. Slice and place in pyrex pan in layers. Then make sauce.

SAUCE

1 1/4 cups chicken broth
1 cup walnuts
6 blanched almonds
1/2 tsp. sweet paprika
1 tsp. minced onion
1/4 cup soft bread crumbs
Salt to taste

Put all ingredients into blender and buzz until smooth. If you do not have a blender use a mortar and pestle and pound until smooth. Pour over cold chicken, serve as an entree or luncheon dish with a salad.

SHISH KEBABS

Marinate cubes of lamb in a mixture of soya sauce, cornstarch and oil. Skewer between slices of green pepper, small tomatoes and mushrooms. Broil under broiler or over hot coals, turning occasionally until done. Serve with sauce made of 3 tbsp. catsup to 1 tbsp. prepared mustard.

Match Wits with The Younger Generation on CBC Radio's

I. Q.

MORE THAN 200 high school students from 44 schools across Canada will be participating in CBC Radio's I.Q., which started its fourth season on the network, October 27.

This quiz discussion program which sets high school teams against each other in a nationwide competition will be heard this year at the new time of 4:30 p.m. Sundays. Previously it was heard at 1:00 p.m.

Returning as host and moderator will be Jed Adams.

During the forthcoming 26-week season, five programs will originate in the Saskatchewan-Manitoba area, five in Montreal and the Maritimes, five from Alberta and British Columbia, five in Ontario, three will be taken up with the series playoffs, and three will be specials.

The first of these specials, December 1, will feature an international match between high school teams from Malvern Collegiate in Toronto, and Jamaica High School in New York City.

On December 29, I.Q. will feature a special year-end review with youth panels around the world commenting on top news stories of the year. For this program the CBC will link groups in Toronto, Washington, London and Berlin.

The other special will be a program origination from Yellowknife, NWT, February 23.

As in past years, each program will feature a half-time interview with people prominent in the news. These interviews will be conducted by high school panels in various cities.

Among those scheduled for interviews are CLC President Claude Jodoin, The Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Minister of Trade Mitchell Sharp, British Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, and U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy.

The purpose of these interviews, according to host Adams is: "To confront youth with people who have something to say about our time."
